What gets measured gets done..... but does it lead to significant, substantial and sustainable business success?

7 STEPS TO EFFECTIVE TEAM PERFORMANCE

This model captures many of the performance issues facing Leaders and Senior Managers. Start thinking about your own situation by using the self-assessment overleaf. It will help you begin to identify the specific challenges you face in the context of your own organisation.

How do you sustain and enhance performance in a rapidly changing world?

PERFORMANCE IN CONTEXT

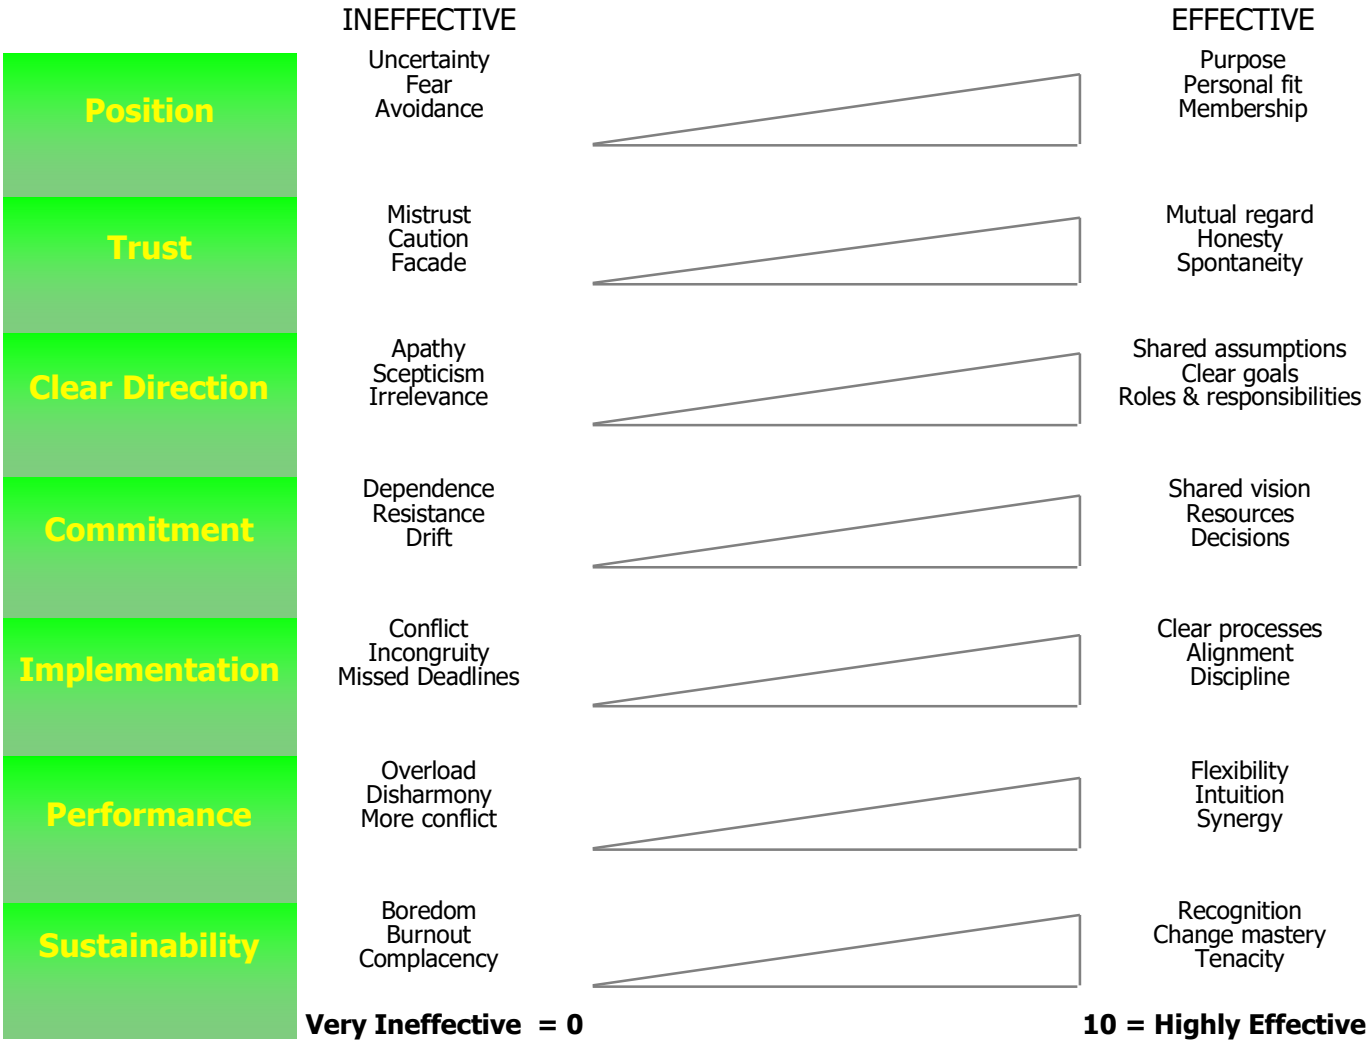

sustainable business results

The Enabling Development '7 STEPS TO EFFECTIVE TEAM PERFORMANCE' programme is designed to enable individuals and teams of senior managers to measurably and tangibly improve performance in the context of their business. Measuring personal and organisational effectiveness needs to be done in a strategic context. The first step is to review current effectiveness.

A starting point is to complete this 7-STEP PROFILE as a self-assessment in the context of the issues which face those running organisations and teams.

Where is your team now?

Enabling Development creates performance enhancement programmes for the private and public sector. Our team of experienced practitioners look for real and measurable performance improvement. We passionately believe that organisations perform at their optimum only after they understand their own internal processes and operating style. We design programmes that address the challenges of performance at all levels.
